

Supermarket worker

She's getting too old for this but it's work isn't it.

Across the table her husband is an empty shelf. At night she dreams she is walking in a field towards a high stack of tinned tomatoes.

Under her feet the grass is soft and cool.

As the ground reaches up for her the cans start falling one by one.

Max Ryan